PHONE STRIKE PLAN ANSWER SOUGHT BY U.S.

Government Proposes Scheme To End Walkout by Thursday Evening.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15—The government waited for an answer today to its negotiation-arbitration plan for ending the nation's first cross-country telephone strike by Thursday evening.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach who said he has lived "in mortal fear" during the first eight days of the walkout, asked for a decision by 5 p. m., EST, today.

If the Bell system and its idle employes accept, the shutdown will end 48 hours later, ten and one-half days after it began.

The plan calls for a five-man arbitration board to decide the tough money issues involved in the strike—including the union's demand for a $12 a week pay hike. The panel would have 90 days to reach a finding.

For the two remaining days of the tie-up other issues would be the subject of intense negotiations, which presumably could be extended if no agreement were reached by Thursday.

The National Federation of Telephone Workers, representing the 340,000 strike-idle employes, scheduled a meeting of its policy committee at 9 a. m.—two hours earlier than originally set — to give the government proposal "serious consideration."

Vice President C. F. Craig of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company hastened back to New York with the plan immediately after a conference of several hours last night with Schwellenbach.

Both the company and union indicated they were trying to get an answer ready by the 5 p. m. deadline.

In New York City a spokesman for T. T. and T. said there was no reason to suppose there will not be" an answer by the deadline time.

Schwellenbach's proposal covers employes of companies except those in New York City, New England and Pennsylvania, the spokesman said. He said Craig would be present for consultation in the discussions in New York.

The secretary called reporters to a tense midnight news conference to announce his plan.

Saying the public had borne the brunt of the strike, the cabinet officer prefaced his outline of the terms with this declaration:

"I have lived in mortal fear that as a result of this strike some child will be deprived of medical care; some woman will be prevented from going to the hospital; some aged mother or father will suffer after being stricken—all because the telephone was not available."

Schwellenbach, his face fushed with emotion, commented: "In the public interest, this dispute must be speedily terminated."

OHIO WORKERS CONFER ON MINOR PHONE ISSUES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 15—Department of labor conciliators scheduled a series of meetings for today and tomorrow in an attempt to revive negotiations on local issues in the nine-day-old telephone strike.

The move was made for resumption of negotiations with the Ohio Bell telephone workers through C. M. Schlund, chairman of the union's negotiating committee.

After meeting with Schlund, Federal Conciliator T. W. Robertson said he expected to meet today with E. H. Gustafson, Ohio bell vice president, on the union's offer.

Schlund emphasized that the offer to résume negotiations is limited to some 47 local issues and does not apply to the 10 national issues, which include the union's demand for $12 weekly general wage increase, vacations, reclassification of towns and length of wage progression schedules.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, April 15—Patricia Schmidt, 21-year-old almond-eyed dancer from Toledo, O., said yesterday that she shot John Lesmee of Chicago aboard his yacht after he beat her because she had discovered he was married.

She made the declaration in the presence of her attorneys, Rene S. Castellanos. The attorney displayed a medical certificate signed by Dr. Marina Fernandez Valenzuela of the Guanabacoa Women's Prison which stated that numerous bruises and scratches were found on Miss Schmidt's body.

The certificate said the injuries apparently were caused by a "body-to-body struggle with another person" about four or six days ago. Mee was shot April 8 and died April 13.

With Castellanos' approval, Miss

COUNCIL VOTES PAY INCREASE

$10 a Month Raise, with Some Exceptions, Granted City Employes.

Raises amounting to $10 a month were given city employes, with some exceptions, at a meeting of the city council Monday night. Approximately 300 city employes will get salary boosts.

Council also took steps in the financing of several sewer and sidewalk construction projects and provided for leasing of the baseball stadium and grounds at Lincoln park to the Marion Baseball Co. for another ten years.

All salaried employes at City hospital received the flat $10 raise, except surgical aides, who received $20. No change was made in the salary of the administrator, who is now on leave of absence due to illness.

Workers on an hourly pay basis at the hospital and in the service department received raises of five cents hour. They work approximately 200 hours a month.

The yearly salary of the humane officer was raised from $240 a year to $540. Ralph E. Carhart is humane officer.

Laborers hourly pay now ranges from $1.15 an hour to 85 cents.

Monthly salaries of police and firemen are now as follows: first year of service, $177.50; second year, $187.50; thereafter, $202.50. The chiefs of the police and fire departments now receive $3,090 a year and captains get $2,610. General duty registered nurses at City hospital now get $175 a month. The increase does not apply to election officials.

Steps were taken to provide funds for the Clinton street sewer, which is now under construction, and other improvement projects which will probably get underway this summer.

The latter are sewers in Bennett street, Nye street, Glad street, Fies avenue, Patterson street, Pat-

FARM BUREAU FLAYS TWO OHIO OFFICIALS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 15 — Trustees of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation declared today that State Agriculture Director Frank N. Farnsworth and his special $8,000 assistant, Edwin J. Bath, had "disqualified themselves for impartial service to Ohio farmers."

In a public statement covering two pages of the Farm Bureau monthly publication, the Ohio Cooperator, the trustees recalled statements by Bath to the senate agricultural committee March 20 criticizing the Farm Bureau, his employer for 18 years, and Murray D. Lincoln, its executive secretary, and asserted:

"The Ohio Farm Bureau federation board of trustees believes that * * * public officials of the Ohio department of agriculture have permitted themselves to be used by representatives of the Ohio Tax Equality association or other anti-farm co-op groups to undermine farm organizations. The board therefore raises the question of the competence of such officials to impartially administer governmental services to help Ohio farmers."

The statement declared the appointment of Bath, former lobbyist for the Farm Bureau at $5,200 a year, was protested by Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison), described as "a representative of the Ohio Tax Equality association," and Farnsworth invited Kile and others from the group "to a meeting where Mr. Bath would renounce his past support of the Farm Bureau and of its leadership."

Bath denounced the Farm Bureau at this meeting in Farnsworth's office, the statement said, and "agreed to repeat the charges before a committee of the state legislature."

Soviet Amendment To U. S. Pact For Germany Not Acceptable

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 15—U. S. officials said today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's suggested amendments to the American-proposed four-power treaty to keep Germany disarmed were unacceptable to U. S. Secretary of State Marshall as a basis of negotiation.

The informants said the American secretary still wanted a yes or no answer from the Russians on whether they are willing to agree in principle to a 40-year treaty against German aggression.

Marshall was reported authoritatively as planning to take the line that Molotov's amendments represented in effect a Soviet effort to write much of the German peace settlement into the Big Four pact. The United States insists the German settlement can be effected only through regular peace conference procedure.

Don't Want U. S. in Europe

Marshall's advisors were reported much interested in a diplomatic report from Rome quoting a Communist paper (said to be L'Unta) to the effect that the Big Four disarmament treaty would be a bad thing because it would keep the United States' fingers in European affairs for the next 40 or 50 years.

This has been called to Marshall's attention as possible evidence of the trend of Communist policy.

Top American informants contend privately that Molotov does not want a Big Four disarmament treaty along the lines proposed last April in Paris by former Secretaary of State James F. Byrnes, despite the statement from Marshall that all he is asking now is agreement in principle and the appointments of plenipotentiaries to negotiate details.

The generally held American view was that Molotov was trying to swamp the American treaty idea by his sweeping suggestions for redrafting the proposal at last night's session, in which he asked for everything from a special regime for the Ruhr to guarantees of land reform in Germany.

Issue Boils Down

The issue boiled down to this: Does Russia want to agree to Marshall's' proposal that the council of foreign ministers, while here assembled, agree to the appointment of plenipotentiaries empowered to negotiate a treaty which will have as its main objective keeping Germany disarmed for the next 40 years.

On this specific point, Russia has given no answer, and Marshall wants to get one.

The United States is not inclined to accept—even in principle—most of the Soviet Union's proposals for revising the 40-year treaty originally suggested by James F. Byrnes, Marshall's predecessor.

2 Unofficial Questions Absorb Big 4 Party

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 15—Two non-technical questions connected with the council of foreign ministers—and, comrades, there are few of same—are getting as much attention around there today as the council itself.

The questions, denuded of diplomatic verbiage, are:

1. "When are we going home?"

2. "When is Secretary Marshall going to see Stalin?"

They're already making book on the first question. One friend even offered to bet Marshall 100 rubles that the ministers still would be here in May. Marshall declined, but said that if he were a betting man he'd offer five against such a proposition.

On question No. 2, Marshall is as silent as the sphinx and his silence is causing some worry in other quarters—quarters which are not American.

After the goings-on at yesterday's council session, many observers feel the conference is about over and that the delegations will be pulling out shortly. One of them even commented:

"The conference seems to be dead, but there's nobody around to bury it."

FROZEN FOOD PLANT TO BE BUILT HERE

Work Scheduled To Start Soon on Baker St.

Work will begin on a frozen food locker plant on Baker street between East Center and East Church streets within the next 10 days. Francis W. Roush, former Marion man now living in Sidney, who will be owner and proprietor, said he hopes to be ready for business by late summer.

The plant will contain 600 food lockers, each of six and one-half cubic feet volume. There will also be facilities for processing meats, including quick freezing, chilling, aging and pork curing.

Mr. Roush plans to sell frozen fruits and vegetables retail and also will deal in home freezers. A display window and show room will front on Baker street.

The plant will be housed in a one-story building of concrete block, with a 58 foot frontage and 100 foot depth. Parking space for approximately 40 cars will be provided facing East Church street.

CPA approval for the project has been obtained. City council at their meeting Monday night added locker frozen plants to the list of businesses which may be conducted in a commercial zone, thus providing city approval of the project. The plant will be in a commercial zone.

Mr. Roush was graduated from Harding High school in 1928 and attended Ohio State University. During the war he served in Europe with the Fourth Infantry Division. He is married and has one son and plans to bring them here from Sidney, where they are now living. He has operated locker plants at Versailles, O., and Amherst at other places.

WHITE HOUSE SAYS WALLACE ACTS ON OWN

Speaks as Private Citizen; No Official Notice To Be Taken.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15—The White House said today that Henry A. Wallace speaks only as "a private citizen" in his attacks abroad on American foreign policy, and no "official notice" has been taken of his speeches.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross emphasized that when reporters questioned him at a news conference about the furore raised in congress by the former vice president's assertion that the United States is embarked on a course of "imperialism."

One question was whether this government would notify the British government that Wallace is "speaking for himself."

Ross replied:

"It is an obvious fact, is it not, that Mr. Wallace is speaking as a private citizen? I have no comment on that."

No Official Action

Asked if it would be correct to assume that the U. S. government has taken no official notice of Wallace's speeches, Ross said:

"Of course it has taken no official notice."

He added that any official notice would be published.

The questioning started with a query as to whether President Truman has been asked, or the White House asked, by congress members to make some statement about Wallace.

"Not to my knowledge," Ross replied.

Senator Tydings (Md), and Lucas (Ill), members of the senate Democratic policy committee, criticized Wallace in words even sharper than some of their Republican colleagues used in assailing the former vice president for his attacks in England on the President's foreign policy program.

"Merchant of Confusion"

Lucas, one of the first Democrats to raise his voice last week in protest against Wallace's statements that the United States is embarking on a career of "imperialism," told reporters:

"Henry Wallace is a merchant of confusion — selling America short."

Tydings said the former secretary of commerce had used "extremely bad taste" in campaigning abroad against the Greek-Turkish proposal, adding:

"Mr. Wallace does not appreciate that what he is doing is attempting to weaken the prestige of his country in one of the most critical periods of world events."

As evidence that even some of his friends think Wallace has made a mistake, Senator Downey (D-Calif), told a reporter he believes the former cabinet member "made an unfortunate type of speech" at Manchester. Downey often has supported legislative proposals favored by Wallace.

Truman Keeps Silent

The congressional uproar against Wallace, however, thus far has elicited no corresponding expression from President Truman. Republicans have called for a statement of Mr. Truman's views and many Democrats privately have been urging such White House action.

Developments indicated, meanwhile, that the administration may seek its answer to Wallace in a rousing senate vote in favor of the pending bill to furnish $400,000,000 in financial and limited military assistance to Greece and Turkey to bolster them against Communism.

British Budget Shows Surplus

First Balanced Estimate Since 1937; No Money for Tax Cut.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 15—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton laid before the house of commons today Britain's first balanced budget in 10 years, saying, "I shall propose some changes in taxation—some up, some down."

He added, however, that a contemplated surplus "cannot be regarded as available for wholesale tax reductions this year.

Dalton estimated that Britain's revenue would be 248,000,000 pounds ($992,000,000) greater than expenditures, which he said would total 3,181,000,000 pounds ($12,724,000,000).

He announced smilingly, "We shall have a good balance in hand," adding that "this should act as smelling salts under the noses of those who had been despondent of our financial future."

The last time Britain's budget was balanced was in the 1937-38 fiscal year.

"We have a very tough external problem," Dalton said in his budget message, "but so far as our domestic affairs are concerned, this budget surplus of close on 250,000,000 pounds ($1,000,000,000) is a clear sign of our internal financial strength which all the world should note."

Dalton said operating costs of the British government in the April 1 to March 31 fiscal year would be slashed 729,000,000 pounds ($2,916,000,000) during 1947-48, to 19 per cent below last year's costs.

Reporting that the "recoil to a balanced budget has been even quicker than I anticipated," Dalton said last year's 569,000,000 pounds ($2,276,000,000) deficit was lower than expected.

He said 29,000,000 pounds ($156,000,000) additional was spent for the British zone of occupation in Germany above the original 80,000,000 pounds ($320,000,000) estimate.

"We also spent 19,000,000 pounds more than we'd bargained for in Greece."

COAL INDUSTRIES BACK TO NORMAL

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 15—Coal-consuming industries swung back to normal today and, aside from depleted coal stockpiles, most of them found themselves little the worse for the AFL-United Mine Workers' two-week work stoppage.

One sufferer was the United States Steel Corp. A spokesman said the corporation's subsidiaries lost an estimated 67,000 tons of pig iron production during the close-down. With the return of the miners yesterday, full-scale blast furnace operations were resumed wherever they had been suspended.

Coal-carrying railroads canceled orders for further layoffs of employes. The Norfolk and Western railway in Virginia said normal coal movement was in sight for the first time in a fortnight.

Most industries, including steel plants, had been able to avoid shutdowns and layoffs by using stockpiles of coal accumulated during the winter months.

Most of the country's 400,000 soft coal miners were back at work yesterday, and the number increased today. For many these were the first working days since April 1 when the miners began a week's mourning for the 111 killed in the Centralia, Ill., pit blast.

New Labor Bill One of Most Far-Reaching Ever Considered

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 15 — This is written to point out the importance of the labor bill which the house starts to debate today.

It is the most far-reaching bill —in the sense of the restrictions it would place on unions—ever considered by congress.

James Marlow

It would make profound changes in the Wagner act, the law covering relations between employers, workers and unions.

The house expects to vote on this bill Friday. Later the senate will vote on its own bill.

Both houses then will agree on a compromise bill which President Truman may veto. Congress may pass it into law over his head.

This house bill was designed by the house labor committee where the Republican members, in a majority, and several Democrats approved it.

Denounce Measure

But six Democrats on the committee not only voted against letting this bill out but denounced it as dangerous and damaging.

The bill is 68 pages long. With this bill the majority on the committee produced a 63-page explanation of what it means.

The committee minority in turn wrote a 49-page explanation, which was a criticism and denunciation.

Since only a handful of house members are on the committee, the full house when it votes, will have to depend upon the committee members for a lot of guidance on what each section of the bill means.

There are so many things in this bill that, if it becomes law, it probably will be years before the full significance of all its details can be known. And for this reason:

The national labor relations board, which administers the present Wagner act, is still interpreting its meaning although the act was passed 12 years ago.

New Board Set Up

A new board will be set up to interpret the new act, if the house bill becomes law. So it undoubtedly would have to go through the same process of interpretation.

In order to understand the bill and have some sureness of what he was going to write, this writer first took the bill to one of the chief attorneys of the CIO.

After three painful hours of examination — which still was only pretty sketchy — the writer and the attorney had covered only 27 of the 68 pages in the bill.

The CIO attorney gave his own interpretation of what he thought this word or that section of the bill meant.

Then, to get the other side, the writer conferred with one of the most important Republican members of the labor committee, one of the men who helped put the bill together.

Author Not Sure

On some points he said he thought the CIO attorney had given the right interpretation but on other points the committee member said he wasn't sure of the answer.

So here, before the bill reached the floor for debate, sources of argument and varying interpretation had arisen.

This writer had hoped to be able to explain in detail what the bill is supposed to do.

But it would do so much, and the bill is so complex, that not one and probably not three or more stories could tell it in unmistakable language, even if both sides agreed on what each provision means.

The committee members themselves take extreme views of what it would do. The majority of the committee said in part in its explanation:

"The committee believes that the enactment of the bill will have the effect of bringing widespread industrial strife to an end."

But the minority members after voting against the bill, said in their explanation that the bill's proposals are:

"Deliberately designed to wreck the living standards of the American people * * * It turns the clock of history back at least a century and a half."

Court Rules On Vet Jobs

High Tribunal Says Priorities Good Only for First Year.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15 — The supreme court yesterday ruled that the selective service act does not guarantee a veteran's seniority on his old job as long as he remains with his pre-war employer.

Justice Rutledge delivered the court's 7-2 decision.

Justice Jackson dissented and was joined by Justice Frankfurter.

Given On Appeal

The ruling was given on an appeal by the CIO United Automobile Workers and the Trailmobile Co. of Cincinnati, from a decision of the U. S. circuit court in Cincinnati which held that a veteran's preservice seniority rights extend beyond his first year of reemployment.

The union and the company asserted the decision would affect hundreds of thousands of non-veterans as well as veterans.

The supreme court majority took the position that after a year the veteran loses such protection from the selective service act as gave him preferred standing during that year over employes not veterans but have identical seniority rights at the time he returned to his job.

Say Preference Ended

The union and the Trailmobile contended that the veterans lost all preferred rights after passage of one year on his old job. However, the supreme court decision did not go that far.

"We find it unnecessary," Justice Rutledge said for the majority, "to pass upon petitioners' (Trailmobile and the union) position in this case, namely, that all protection afford by virtue of section 8 (of the selective service act) terminates with the end of the specified year."

The litigation hinged on interpretation of a section of the selective service act which provides that where a returning veteran is entitled to his old job he shall be restored without loss of seniority and shall not be discharged from such position without cause within one year of restoration."

Southern Cooking Confederate Military Secret

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—One of the best kept secrets of the south is the art of southern cooking. A casual traveler through the land of cotton, peanuts and the pine soon learns to smile with the rising sun. There's nothing as delicious as southern cooking.

Hal Boyle

This is because there are two types of southern cooking: the kind you find in the average restaurant and the kind you get in a good southern home. It's only a little better that you are likely to enjoy the kitchen-born hospitality" you get.

When a southern lady really turns to her skillet and oven, she can dish up plates that would make a French gourmet go home and turn his famed portriot of Escoffier to the wall. She can turn out cornmeal "huge puppies" that leave white bread as insipid as the memory of a mouthful of fog.

Fried Chicken Superb

Her fried chicken is as crisp as a military command, as tender as a high school girl's first love poem. She can do things with country ham that stir a man to idolatry and desire to burn votive candles. She is the only woman in the world who has had the good sense to know that fine old Bourbon whisky, like old sherry wine, is a benison in the kitchen. She uses it to flavor many wonderful dishes.

But the romance of southern cooking is strictly home-grown.

Dining out is another story. The south has many renowned restaurants but they are only scattered oases.

This isn't just the opinion of one visiting "damyankee." In fact the restaurants are about the only thing below the Mason-Dixon line that an outsider can criticize without stirring the native sons to instantaneous rebuttal.

"Confederates" Agree

"Most our restaurants are pretty bad," they mournfully agree.

Bachelors lead a sorry life everywhere, but in the south they must be cast iron men indeed. Nobody but a man raised in the steel traditions of Stonewall Jackson could graze three times a day in the average small southern restaurant and long endure.

For many restaurants seem to feel they've done their duty when they slap a plate before you containing:

(1) A soggy pork chop greased as if it were about to try to swim the English channel;

(2) A hump of tired canned peas.

(3) A spreading white gelatinous horror, called "grits," flavorless as warmed-over snow, which leaves you feeling like a maddened bottle of library paste.

The plate is preceded by a glass of fruit juice-canned, yes, even in Florida it's served from a can—and followed by a slab of apple pie plated with damp wallboard.

A case could be made for these restaurants in that they indubitably drive many reluctant men into matrimony, thus creating more families and benefitting the nation.

But when a hungry man drops in for a meal he usually doesn't have a long term social view in mind. He's just trying to placate an empty stomach.

GROUP TO ENTERTAIN LIMA DISTRICT SOCIETIES

W.S.C.S. Meeting To Be Held at Wesley Church.

Plans were made for entertaining societies of the Lima district on April 22 at a meeting of the W.S.C.S. of Wesley Methodist church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. R. G. Smallwood. The general meeting was preceded by a meeting of the executive board. The pastor, Rev. H. M. McAdow, announced May 4 to 11 as national family week which will be observed at Wesley church and will close with a Mother's Day service.

Mrs. Fred Upton, president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with group singing. Mrs. Pearl McDonald conducted the devotions on the topic, "Building the Church of Tomorrow." A letter was read from a minister in Manila in appreciation of a box of supplies. It was planned to send another box of Sunday school supplies and drugs.

The theme, "One Hundred Years of Methodism in China," was presented by Mrs. B. H. Rice, assisted by Mrs. O. W. McElhaney. Mrs. Della Davis, Mrs. James Barkley, Mrs. C. G. Roberts and Mrs. C. Hartshorn. A vocal number was by Mrs. D. J. Finley. The closing prayer was by Mrs. H. M. McAdow. Refreshments were McAdow. Refreshments were Emma Lehman, Mrs. George Keefer, Mrs. Harry Coon and Mrs. Gladys Price.

Junior Red Cross Names Nominating Committee

A nominating committee was named for the annual election of officers and plans were made to send delegates to the national convention at Cleveland June 9 to 12, at a meeting of the Junior Red Cross council Saturday at the chapter office. Marilyn Bachman, James Cross, Donald Klingel and Lois Pickens were named a nominating committee.

A letter of appreciation for gift boxes sent by the pupils of the North Main Street school received from a family in Greece, was read. Reports included the work done in the schools. Junior members at Oakland school made favors for Easter and the Caledonia juniors made favors for the Children's home. It was announced that the service funds would be turned over to the National Children's fund at the next meeting May 10. All outstanding gift boxes are to be turned in immediately, it was announced.

RECOVERY CHIEF. The difficult task of supervising Britain's plans for recovery has been entrusted to 40-year-old Sir Edwin Noel Plowden. He has just been named head of the interdepartmental Committee on Economic Planning. During the war he held a key position in the Ministry of Economic Warfare.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Infant Ailment

Luckily for all of us, most mothers are easily alarmed and quick to note anything out of the way in the physical condition of their babies. Few things, perhaps, put mothers more on the alert than noticing that when baby has a bowel movement there is blood with it. Though this is a condition which requires the immediate care of a doctor, it is fortunately not serious in nine cases out of ten.

The bleeding, of course, may come from a number of different things but, according to Dr. Louis J. Hirschman of Detroit, the most common cause in infants and children is the presence of what is known as a polyp. A polyp is a tumor growth coming from the lining membrane of the bowel.

If only one polyp is present, the treatment is usually not difficult. It also is rather easy to make a diagnosis of this condition because it produces only small amounts of blood which is bright red in color and there is no pain when the bleeding occurs. If the polyp is close to the rectal opening it may protrude.

The polyp is removed surgically. After its removal the child is allowed to be up and about after 24 hours. It may be necessary to use enemas or injections of baking soda solution into the lower bowel for the first two or three days to keep the stool soft.

While a single polyp is not a serious condition, if many of these growths are present treatment is more difficult. There is more bleeding, and anemia or lessening of the amount of coloring in the blood occurs. There is also loss of weight. An operation with removal of a segment of the bowel is usually required to overcome the difficulty.

Another rectal condition which occurs in children is known as prolapse of the rectum. In this condition there is protruding of the lower part of the bowel particularly during a bowel movement.

According to Dr. Hirschman, this condition can often be corrected in infants by having the child move his bowels in a reclining position instead of on an infant's toilet seat. Sometimes the toilet seat is made with an oval opening which gives more support to the buttocks. Surgical operation for this condition is rarely necessary. In more severe cases, however, a procedure known as cauterization has been found quite helpful.

While as a rule these bowel conditions are not serious they require the immediate attention of a physician.

"DEAR RUTH" CAST AT PALACE APRIL 25

Play Recently Ended Three-Year Run on Broadway.

The hilarious stage play, "Dear Ruth," which recently completed a three year run on Broadway, will be seen on the stage of the Palace theater Friday, April 25. The performance is scheduled for 8:15 p. m.

Starring players are Audrey Swanson and Robert Cowell with an all star New York cast direct from Broadway. In addition to the Broadway run, the play was seen one year in Chicago, one year in Philadelphia and six months in Boston, and is now making return engagements in 84 cities.

Hailed by drama critics as one of the 10 best plays of the season and termed as a comedy that is human, true and vastly amusing, "Dear Ruth" tells of the adventures of the happy Wilkins family in which a romance comes to light. A soldier returns from overseas and goes to see Ruth who has been writing him love letters, so he thinks. But the letters are the work of the family brat, who has signed Ruth's name. And above all, Ruth is really engaged to Albert Kummer.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the theater.

Ohio Chamber of Commerce Sees $120 Million Pension Bill

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 15—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce reported today that increases in Ohio's old age pension payments may boost the total cost during the next decade by a sum ranging from $80,000,000 to $120,000,000.

The Chamber said the average annual cost of aid to the aged payments during the next 10 years likely would increase from $8,000,000 to $12,000,000 over the 1943-45 level which was approximately $45,000,000.

The estimates were given in a statistical study prepared by the organization entitled "Twenty Years of Old Age Pensions in Ohio." The report stated the increases would be due to higher prices and not to any material increase in the number of persons receiving pensions." It said the number of old age pensioners probably would increase to 123,000 in 1955 as compared to 117,091 in 1945.

"In 1945," the report stated, the cost of old age pensions in Ohio amounted to $44,981,000 or 28 per cent of the total state expenditures financed from the general revenue fund." It noted that the federal government paid approximately 50 per cent of this cost.

C. I. Weaver, president of the Chamber, said the report was one of a series "designed to assist the legislature in finding constructive solutions to the pressing problem of a better and more equitable distribution of tax income, without imposing new taxes."

The report described administrative practices of the Ohio division of aid for the aged as generally satisfactory. It made several recommendations requiring legislative amendments to the law, including:

(1) Provide that responsible relatives of pensioners be made liable for their support under civil law. While the law now establishes responsibility of pensioners' children, no civil means of collecting for their support is provided, the report pointed out.

(2) Provide funds for the state to audit the property of pensioners held in trust by the state. The report said this has averaged approximately $20,000,000 in value since 1940.

(3) Provide that relatives contributing to the support of a pensioner pay the funds directly to the state, permitting the recipient to receive the entire allotment from the state, instead of depending upon the continued ability of the relative to pay each month.

(4) Provide that medical expense funds be paid directly to the creditor instead of to the pensioner.

(5) Eliminate the citizenship requirement in the Ohio law in order that the expense be shared by the federal government. At present, the report said, noncitizens of Ohio in need, become direct relief clients, supported only by the state and local government, and Ohio taxpayers pay taxes to provide pensions for noncitizens in other states, without receiving any comparable benefit.

B. and O. Saved From Loss by Tax Credit

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, April 15—A $20,000,000 tax credit saved the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from a $15,578,071 loss in 1946, R. B. White, president of the carrier, reported yesterday.

This situation, he pointed out in a report to the stockholders, was due to greatly increased operating costs.

White said the road showed a 2.85 per cent return on its investment in 1946, as compared to an average 2.75 return for American railroads in the same year. However, if it had not been for the tax credit, the B. and O. return would have been less than one per cent.

Ohio Congresswoman Supports Anti-Red Aid

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 15—Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) told the Ohio Society of New York last night that America should strengthen needy nations against the "inroads of Communism" by extending them financial aid.

The congresswoman said loans to needy countries should carry these stipulations: that the money be used to develop projects to enable the people to become self-supporting; that benefits accruing from the loans go to the entire people of a nation, and that borrowing countries pay, as far as possible, for what they get in the form of exports with the balance covered by a long-term non-interest bearing loan.

TWO MARION MEN IN NAVY CLUB POSTS

Arthur Watt and S. H. Haughn Named at Steubenville.

Reports of Alfred Whittington and Dwight Altman, delegates to the Ohio Squadron, were heard at the regular meeting of the Marion Navy club, held Monday night in the club room on West Center street.

The state meeting, held in Steubenville last Saturday and Sunday, featured the annual election of state officers. The delegates reported they were able to capture two honors for the local club. Arthur Watt was elected state judge advocate, an office ordinarily reserved for an attorney and S. Harold Haughn, who served in the Naval Sea-Bees in World War II, was appointed master-at-arms by the new squadron commandant, Robert Costill of Akron.

Plans were made to redecorate the Navy club room on West Church street in keeping with true naval tradition, and the "over the side party" will be directed by Mr. Haughn.

H. D. Pickett reported plans were nearly completed for the annual Naval memorial service to be held at Forest Glen Sunday, May 25.

An initiation by Father Neptune, Davy Jones and party will be held in connection with the next meeting, April 28.

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that S86 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anaemia. This is due to the S86 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, S86 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get bothy with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on S86 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. People Without a Voice

LABOR committees of both houses of congress have included that item on the closed shop in the United States, one of the most hotly controversial issues in present-day labor relations.

Somewhere, sometime, somehow during the violent controversy which will ensue someone should utter at least a reminder that some of the people with the most at stake in this issue have no spokesmen. They are without a designated voice. The labor unions can't speak for them. Nor can the employers.

They are the majority of United States wage earners who either do not belong to any union, or hold union membership without believing in the organization they are obligated to support. These persons have been the grand prize in the drive to unionize American workers. Ultimately what happens to them may determine what happens to unionism.

The fundamental issue in the argument about the union shop is not the rights of unions, or the rights of employers of labor, but the rights of citizens. The unsolved problem of industrial organization in the United States is how to guarantee the right of some citizens to bargain collectively in organizations of their own choosing without suspending the guarantee of freedom to other citizens who don't choose to belong to the organizations. The National Labor Relations Act only aggravated the problem by giving legal sanction to the closed, or union, shop.

Good Work Wins Recognition

MARION regrets losing Louis E. Michel as secretary of its Chamber of Commerce and congratulates the city of Portsmouth, where he will take over the Chamber secretaryship next month.

Mr. Michel's record of efficient service here won for him recognition which has resulted in appointment to his new position. Although without experience in Chamber of Commerce work when he became secretary here eight years ago, his conduct of the organization's affairs was successful from the beginning and has continued with increasing effectiveness. During his term of service came the complications and extra duties of the war years and his able performance of that vitally important work is regarded as a particularly notable mark of credit in his record.

Marion wishes for Mr. Michel continued success and advancement in his work at Portsmouth.

The Communist Way

"OF THE dead speak nothing but good" has been the rule most of the world over from ancient times. Every man has his faults but his bier has not been the place where civilized persons reviewed them.

However, this is not the rule of the Communists who are among us. Play dirty, kick in the clinches, twist the knife in the wound and never give an enemy credit for a decent motive. Those are the rules they live by; those are the rules they would impose on the rest of us.

Consider, for instance, Henry Ford's obituary in the Daily Worker, principal fact-distorter and venom-spewer for the Communist party in America. It is a violently class-angled piece which depicts Ford as a rapacious, conniving capitalist without an honorable deed to his credit. The obituary picture shows Ford receiving a decoration from the German government during the 1930's. The fact that the spiritual homeland of the Communists was in league with Nazi Germany as late as 1941 is unimportant.

Goebbels may be read but his spirit lives on. For evidence consult the Communist press of America.

Unesco's Dilemma

TO THE FEW Americans who don't mistake it for the name of a Romanian composer or a new breakfast food, Unesco is a subsidiary of the United Nations, but exactly what the organization is supposed to do is something of a puzzle. Apparently that is bothering Archibald MacLeish, too, and he is one of the American members of Unesco, now in session in Paris.

"The program we have before us," he told the Paris meeting, "substitutes broad generalizations for specific action. The purpose of Unesco is not to spread science, education and culture, but to use them for stimulating peace."

Unesco means United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Oragnization. Before they went to Paris, Unesco's American members, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of Gen. Eisenhower, assembled in Philadelphia to hear suggestions from more than 500 organizations, including the D. A. R., the Polish National Catholic Church in America, the American Guild of Organists, the National Thespian Society and the American Society of Mammalogists.

No wonder Unesco's delegation is puzzled. Culture, education and science are wonderful. The only trouble is, they mean many things to different people. And whether acquainting the so-called backward races with them is promulgating peace is very much open to question.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Truman Stirs Up Some CIO Economic Dust.

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Truman got one foot on the straight narrow and just wage-price tightrope at his press conference seminar on economics. Some hearers thought there was danger he might fall into the old CIO custom, as pure CIO economic dust was flying thick in the air around there.

Some excitement was caused by Mr. Truman's observation that further price increases would bring more wage increases. Such a prospect, of course, would be an invitation to step back on the same old merry-go-round, which was such a frantic, dizzy whirl that even the CIO abandoned it—at least eased off it in publicity.

My information shows plainly the President meant this only as a warning and not as an invitation. The intent was not at all clear in the news accounts because the President himself did not make it clear. The remark was intended to dissuade business from trying any further increases. In fact the inside understanding of the whole seminar among those in the know (the number being too few in this case) was to exert moral suasion. It was definitely not for the purpose of besturing again the latent CIO and CPA economic dust which long since had laid down and died on the floor. You may accept this as gospel.

Offers Encouragement

But Mr. Truman unfortunately encouraged economic dust throwing by two other things he did which are subject to even a greater misinterpretation. He said it might do some good to ease the anti-trust act to permit some fair downward price adjustments. In some few prices, this might help. But the prices in these new cases are not the burdensome living costs as gravely affecting the people in general. Such action would not affect milk, cream, eggs and bread. Most people believe Mr. Truman might possibly do a lot more good if he proposed exactly the opposite course—namely more rigid enforcement of the antitrust laws. They were made to prevent combinations holding prices high.

The second time he worked the vacuum cleaner in reverse was when he failed to demur to a reporter's suggestion of the old union argument that "profits have been greatly increased, sometimes as high as 300 percent." No news follower needs to have this one explained. Just turn over to the stock market pages. Read the price. See if stocks have gone up. You will find that stock prices have not even gone up to the extent of the cost of living and yet stock prices are based wholly on current profits and expectations of profits. Many have gone down lately.

The President's remark on this point was plainly subject to dangerous misinterpretations, especially as the CIO is trying now at this very moment to wheedle another price increase out of steel and autos under the same delusion. The profits of U. S. Steel and General Motors are rather open books, and I'm tired of telling them, but the truth of that situation can be obscured from the country by just such propaganda as is being fostered out of the press seminar.

Time To Be Specific

Mr. Truman should have been specific, because the price problem is specific. What profits went up 200 per cent? No one mentioned the company or companies, or the precise nature of the case in point. To cite such a generality is to encourage a movement which could wreck the country, with more inflation. Such an increase certainly sounds unjust, unwarranted and possibly illegal. He could have required the reporter who brought the matter up to cite the specific case. Incidentally also in this way he could probably have forced that very price down by intelligent moral suasion—publicity.

The overall truth of the matter was not even mentioned at the supposedly complete economic seminar, namely that production is the cause of it all. When you get production, free enterprise will operate. Certainly the cost of living will not come down as long as goods are short and the sellers control the market.

Mr. Truman might have called on his agriculture department to encourage more production. He might have called on his bureau of labor statistics to trace down the real reason why milk, eggs, cream and bread are higher. He could have ordered his justice department to enforce bitterly any unjust combinations under the antitrust laws which are holding prices up. He might have done a hundred similar things which would really help the consumer and really get prices down.

But, as I say, he got one foot or more off the tightrope and the CIO dust was flying thickly around his oval office room.

Will Stand-ins Man This Picket Line?

The Screen Actors Guild, whose membership includes most of the movie stars, is demanding time and a half for overtime.

The studios are expected to object on the grounds that no man is worth $1,500 a Saturday, not even those who make $1,000 a day, Monday through Friday.

Personally, I cannot conceive of anyone who draws down five thousand a week for making love to Hedy Lamarr demanding time and a half for retakes . . . not when there must be a million guys in the U. S. who'd be glad to get the job at 40 cents an hour.

Anyhow, who'd have time, playing patty-cake with, say Betty Grable, to engage in any clock-watching?

Incidentally, one of the Guild's more reasonable demands is for $100 a day for bit players. This is calculated to appeal to the general public, which has no sympathy for sweat-shops.

But the most ridiculous thing is that actors are also asking that work-time credit be given for interviews when the truth of the matter is that they should not worry so much about being bothered with interviews as about not being bothered with them.

Future German Government

By RAYMOND MOLEY

AFTER the Soviets and the western allies have quarreled interminably about Germany's future government, the Germans themselves will make the final decision. That is inevitable. German nationalism since the days of Luther has been a growing factor. It is deep in German habits of life and government.

The exact constitutional shape of the new Germany will permit of numerous variations.

Since Germany became an empire, in 1871, it has had two basic constitutions: One created by Bismarck, and the other drafted by Professor Preuss and brought to life at Weimar in 1919. The United States now seems to favor a form of government somewhere between the Bismarck and the Weimar setups. The Russians lean to the Weimar plan.

Variety Provided

The Bismarck constitution recognized a limited autonomy for 25 states, three of which were free cities with republican governments. The others were kingdoms, grand duchies, duchies and principalities. There was also Alsace-Lorraine, which was the common property of all the states. The Reichstag was composed of members elected by free, secret vote. The Bundecrat was composed of repreentatives of the states. Bismarck attempted to make the empire dependent upon the states; hence, its finances were drawn directly from the states.

The Weimar constitution, democratic in outline, moved toward centralization. The Reich was given its own taxing power and its own budget. The railroads became the property of the Reich. The Reichstag remained. And the Bundecrat became the Reich Council.

The states, under the Weimar constitution, retained their political independence to a certain degree. Bavaria, for example, remained the final outpost of republicanism in Germany in later years.

Russians' Preference

It is obvious that the Russians prefer the Weimar plan. Under its more centralized forms there is more chance of ultimate Communist control, provided the Germans can be induced to vote Communist. Under the Weimar system there is more opportunity to penetrate national institutions by Communist infiltration.

But the well-established feeling of German unity will provide hard going for Communism. The ideal of a German nation as a cultural economic and political unit will prevail as long as poverty and confusion can be prevented. Moreover, as long as the Soviets prevent a reasonable adjustment of the Polish boundaries, the bulk of the German people will be slow to yield to Soviet influence.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 15, 1937. Nazidom, lutting out at any direct or imagined criticism from abroad, struck at American churches for allowing "vicious machinations under the cloak of religious observances." The press, in its anti-American campaign, also had stressed disastrous economic consequences of the strike wave in the United States.

Mrs. Rhoda Matilda Sharpe, 80, died of infirmities of age at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Oscar Freshour of Girard avenue.

Four charter members were present when the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Prospect Street M. E. church observed the sixty-eighth anniversary of the organization of the general society and the fiftieth anniversary of the Prospect Street church society. They were Mrs. Ferdinand Hecker, Miss Amanda Haberman and Miss Bertha Gracely.

Approximately 200 members and guests attended the sixth annual banquet of Co. D, 166th Infantry, U. S. National Guard, held at the Armory. Lt. Col. Herman C. Doellinger of Marysville was a guest speaker.

Mrs. Grace Parlette Sifritt gave a travel talk, "Shopping in Foreign Lands" at a guest party given by Circle No. 5 of the Ladies' Aid society of Epworth M. E. church at the home of Mrs. J. E. Smith of West Church street.

J. M. Kratzer, highway patrolman in charge of the Marion substation, left for Warren where he had been transferred to the substation in that city. He had been head of the local patrol station here since Nov. 4, 1934.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, April 15, 1927.

Floods and heavy snows throughout the central part of the United States forced thousands to flee their homes, paralyzing transportation and causing intense suffering.

J. L. Ackerson of New York City was elected president of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. under the new ownership of W. A. Harriman & Co., New York City investment house.

Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church was chosen to give the senior class sermon in connection with the annual graduation exercises of Harding High school. The commencement speaker was Dr. Merton S. Rice, pastor of the Metropolitan church in Detroit.

It was announced that the Marion Rotary club would be represented in the convention of Rotary International at Ostend, Belgium, in June by Jesse H. Mason, school superintendent and Fred E. Guthery, attorney. The two delegates and their wives had arranged to leave Marion on their trip May 28.

Mrs. Sam McColly of Pearl street received word that her brother, Christ Barth, 80, former Marion resident, had died in Baden, Germany.

Announcement was made of the resignation of Harry K. Stofer as city clerk and appointment of S. H. Keller as his successor.

Franklin J. Schultz, 70, former Marion county probate court judge, died at his home on South Main street.

Wallace Shuts Out Reality

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN HENRY WALLACE the inner difficulties of what might have remained a private drama have become an international problem. He is a man trying earnestly to deal with a world which is too much for him, and like many another he is cracking under the strain. For public life in our epoch is a fearful ordeal, particularly for those who cannot shut their eyes and stop their ears, who are aware as he is, that the issues are life and death.

As long as Henry Wallace was protected, led, guided, and disciplined, he was a good and faithful public servant. There was interposed between him and the crisis of our times the strength of Roosevelt's personality, the support of the institutions of the government, the organization of his party. But when he had to face the realities of our time directly, on his own, and had to find within himself the intellectual resources to decide the issues and the emotional steadfastness and stability to endure responsibility, the reality was too much for him.

He has not been able to take it. He has fled from it, has fled from equal debate, from tedious persuasion, from the laborious administration to the comforting applause of coteries, to the development of a cult and to making himself a sacrifical offering for the sins of the world.

The more furious the hubbub he creates, the more he provokes a persecution of which he can believe himself to be the martyr, the greater his inner certitude that he is right.

The Nomination Lost

The reason why Roosevelt and his closest advisers decided against renominating him for vice president in 1944 was that these tendencies were already evident then. He was known to be too soft for a hard world and disposed, because he could not grapple with reality, to eccentric action and to mixing up unpredictable truths, half-truths, myths, panaceas, nostrums and quackery.

Back in 1944 it was already clear that he was psychologically unfitted for prime responsibility in time of crisis. Writing just before the Democratic convention, I was, I think, merely reflecting the considered and friendly judgment of those who had observed him in Washington, in saying that "there is in him much of the feeling and the tendency of things to come. But he is a mystic and isolated man to whom the shape of the real world is not clear, in which he is not at home and at ease * * * his elevation to the presidency would produce a profound, perhaps an unreasonable sense of anxiety * * * it would arise from an intuitive realization that his goodness is unworldly, that his heart is so detached from the realities that he has never learned to measure, as a statesman must, the relation of good and evil in current affairs."

The effects of his present tour in Europe are mischievous and confusing, though they are not tragic and irreparable, except possibly for him personally. But the results cannot be ignored, and considerable effort will be required on both sides of the Atlantic to repair them.

Doesn't Know the Facts

Thus he has told the people of Europe that the United States is committed to a ruthless imperialism and war with the Soviet Union. That is not true and it is a cruel falsehood to tell Europe that this is the posture of the United States. The truth is that the American people are in the midst of an immense discussion as to how they can play their unprecedented role amidst unprecedented difficulties and dangers.

In that discussion Mr. Wallace has not ventured to confront face to face, as he could have by appearing before the congressional committees the advocates of the policies which he opposes. He had fled from the reality of direct discussion to uttering his views by radio, in his magazine, and at mass meetings in England—anywhere but in places where he would have had to debate them seriously with his own countrymen.

He is also telling the governments and people of Europe what they ought to do about the United States. This is not only an uncouth thing for an American to be doing while his country is in the throes of a difficult decision. It is also a grossly embarrassing way of interfering in the internal affairs of Europe.

For Henry Wallace, as a former vice president of the United States, has to be received by the officials of any country he chooses to visit. It is a courtesy that has to be paid to the high office which he has held, regardless of all partisan or personal aspects of the man himself. If, for example, the leading personalities of France had refused to welcome him, they would have been taking sides in Mr. Wallace's quarrels at home instead of regarding him as foreigners must, as a man elected by the people to the vice presidency of the United States.

But this puts Mr. Wallace under obligation not to exploit his reception in Europe by taking sides in the internal affairs of European countries. Yet that is precisely what he has done in Britain, to take sides in the British dispute about Mr. Bevin's foreign policy. And that is no doubt what he will do in France, if he cannot be persuaded to stop before he does it—to take sides in any delicately balanced equilibrium of the parties which is, in the eyes of most Frenchmen, necessary at present to see them through their troubles.

Order in the Court! Don't Leer at the Jury

By The Associated Press

SALEM, Ill.—By a court order, the Marion county courtroom jury "box"—always an open affair on a platform—shall have a railing and a curtain fronting it, thus limiting the view of the jurors. Judge James McMackin, explaining his order, said that when the jury box was built women did not serve on juries "and now they do." He added: "Well, the reason should be apparent to anyone."

New York delegates were not authorized by their state convention to sign the Declaration of Independence until five days after the historic signing on July 4, 1776.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

If the Late Henry Ford Tried It Today

1—Henry finds himself a poor boy with everything pointing to a tough struggle. He thinks of going to work on the farm, but sees a few movies in which life seems to be merely a matter of good looks, keen clothes and a good line.

2—His folks are unable to keep him in school. He listens to some soapbox speeches and hears this would not be so if the American system could be junked.

3—He is discovered tinkering around the farm with old clock parts, coffee grinders and bicycle machinery. Folks begin to say, "There's something wrong with that Ford boy; he's able to concentrate."

4—He is found studying at home. The neighbors remark, "He won't amount to much. He wastes his time like that instead of trying to earn money on quiz programs."

5—He looks for work. He is offered a night job. He asks the pay. He is told $3 a week. He takes it without a howl of derision or a denunciation of the American economic system.

* * *

6—Needed back on the farm, he returns. The other boys and girls think him peculiar as he doesn't know much about Superman, Dick Tracy, Captain Midnight, Mickey Rooney, Double or Nothing, Humphrey Bogart or Jimmy Cagney.

7—He is found with a book on internal combustion engines. He refuses to drop it to see a double feature murder film. The neighbors think him a case for a psychiatrist.

8—He builds a horseless carriage propelled by steam. Some concern is expressed when it is realized he would rather do this than join Political Youth Movements.

9—He is found reading of gasoline as a motor fuel and experimenting far into the night. This is frowned upon by many of his associates.

10—He gets various jobs at long hours and with pretty small pay but denounces nobody.

* * *

11—He gets into his thirties and is still a hard-working man who puts in a lot of time after work tinkering on motors. As he has never been a guest on a radio program, written a movie scenario, got a Hollywood star's autograph or pulled a glass pistol on anybody he is considered to be a psychopathic case.

12—Nearing the 40 mark he really produces a horseless carriage. But the fact he has done it without a press agent arouses skepticism.

13—He refused to take the car and join a circus, a midway, or a vaudeville act.

14—He drives his car through Detroit streets, but is still considered odd because he refuses to sell advertising space on it.

15—He wants to start a factory to make Ford cars but is told there are no more frontiers, that the economic situation is bad and there is a depression ahead.

* * *

16—He persists in his ambition but is told the way to get money is to borrow it from the Government.

17—He gets a subsidy. He is unable to build any cars the first year due to all the federal questionnaires and forms.

18—He finally builds a car to sell for around $800. Washington orders him to get $1,200.

19—He decides to go ahead but can't get necessary priorities.

20—He managed to get into production but the shop is closed by a jurisdictional dispute.

21—He reopened but is held up by a series of strikes.

22—His factory is taken over by Washington.

23—He decides to become a crooner.

The funniest line we heard on the phone strike was on the Amos & Andy program where one of the characters complained he had been through a terrible ordeal of 36 hours on the phone talking to his wife. "With a strike on how could that happen?" he was asked. "That was just the trouble: I couldn't get central to disconnect us," he replied.

Fiorello LaGuardia has been chosen for the One World Award which entitled an American to make a free airplane trip around the world in memoriam of Wendell Willkie. Well, we don't begrudge The Hat a nice grip gratis, but he is as much like Willkie as Dizzy Dean is like George Washington.

Then there is the fellow who, reading that calls will be put through in case of death, told central "This is a real emergency."

"What is it" asked the operator.

"My phone is dead," he replied.

Dear Nephew: Well, we got Easter taken care of. Nothing to look forward to now but Memorial Day. I wish I could find out something that always has puzzled me about Easter.

I have been admiring the Easter finery worn by females for a large number of years. I enjoy every bow, wisp, pleat and peplum. Nothing makes me feel so good as to see women trickedout like show horses. I feel good because I know nothing makes women feel so good as to look like show horses—and I am strong for stuff that makes people feel good.

Your aunt had all she could do last Sunday to keep me from whistling at the cuties. We went to church so I could keep in practice (I am talking now about church, not cuties) and I scarcely heard what the man said for looking at the ladies in their hats with the imitation vegetation on them, the frilly dresses and coats that looked like cake frosting and Christmas candy. From where I sat the church looked more confectionery than religious, which is usual for Easter Sunday. Even the men looked good, which is to say not as bad as usual.

But what I want to know is why people only look that way on Easter Sunday. There is no other time of the year when women look frilly and the ordinary run of men succeed in looking anything but ugly. It couldn't be the clothes, because they wear the same clothes time after time. At least they do in this neck of the woods. This is the kind of a place where folks buy a new Easter outfit and that's the outfit for the whole year. But they never look Easterish again after Easter.

I want you to look into this. Maybe and make a project of it, like that outfit which spent a fortune telling newspaper, moving picture and radio people they should dish out more heavy fare to the customers. If I may nib into your business—and I guess I'm as good as any commission and a darned sight cheaper—you fellows had better be on guard against the spoon-feeders.

They know exactly what is good for folks and are itching to give it to them. Goebbels in my book, was the all-time champ of the spoon-feeders. He knew exactly what the people should have. We've got Goebbelses too, and they aim to close in on everybody who insists it isn't the job of newspapers and radios to give people what the Goebbelses say people should have but to try to give them what they want.

I only suggest this for fear you might be fooled by antics like commissions packed with beard-bearing professors tricked out with degrees and not an ounce of sense in a carload. Sometimes I myself wonder where you birds get your freak notions about what people want, but I'll trust your judgment over a bunch of ginks prescribing monster doses of their magic potions for the dear, dumb people. Give my regards to the family.

ASKS CENSURE OF WALLACE

Democrat Wants Ohio Legislature To Adopt Resolution of Condemnation.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 15—A Democrat asked the Republican-controlled Ohio house of representatives to go on record today as approving the statements and opinions expressed by Henry A. Wallace in Great Britain as misleading and wholly untrue."

Rep. Roy M. White, Millersburg Democrat, introduced a resolution last night asserting that Wallace's observations "do not represent the true, sound and unbiased judgment of the majority of the clear thinking citizens of Ohio and of the United States."

The resolution said Wallace's remarks were "made in a fit of frustration and that he sought to capture international favor, prestige and attention to the discredit of the true beliefs, policies and intentions of the U. S."

"The 97th general assembly of Ohio," the resolution read, "deplores the fact that one of the leading citizens of the U. S. should utter such misleading statements, confusing the true beliefs and opinions of the U. S. in relation to its foreign policies."

Schools came in for a major share of attention at today's sessions of the legislature, thinned by absence of sports-minded members attending major league baseball game openers in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The senate education committee called its first hearing on a demand by Sen. I. E. Baker (R-Montgomery) for a legislative investigation of alleged un-American activities in Ohio schools and colleges.

The senate last night unanimously approved bills to allow commissioners of two or more counties to establish joint county homes, require written opinions of the state board of tax appeals, and allow park districts to lease state canal lands.

The house passed without opposition a bill to authorize Lawrence county commissioners to pay James Dutey of Coal Grove $438 for expenses incurred in connection with the death of his son, Leroy, who was injured fatally by a county trailer.

Introduced in the senate was a bill by Sen. John W. Morrison (R-Portage) to increase annual salaries of the Akron municipal court bailiff and deputy bailiff $300 each.

Dr. David King of Akron university's political science department told the senate elections committee last night that Ohio's congressional districts should be revamped. He spoke in support of a bill by Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) to redistrict the state on a population basis.

Mussolini's Ouster Prompted Hitler To Grandiose Scheme

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, April 15—Adolf Hitler reacted to Benito Mussolini's resignation with a grandiose plan to move into the Vatican—"we will apologize afterwards"—and to capture the Italian king, the crown prince and the whole Italian government.

A frenzied scene at the fuehrer's headquarters on July 25, 1943, is reflected in stenographic notes of the occasion which were found by the American army.

"Tomorrow I shall send a man down who will order the commander of the Third Panzer division to go down to Rome with a special command group to arrest the entire government, the king, and the whole gang, but primarily to get hold of the crown prince and Badoglio and his gang," Hitler declared.

"They will see and get weak in the bones and within two or three days there will be another change."

Vatican Question Raised

Ambassador Hewel, German foreign office liaison officer at Hitler's headquarters, suggested:

"Should we not say that the exits of the Vatican will be guarded?"

"I don't care, go into the Vatican immediately," Hitler replied. "Do you think I am afraid of the Vatican?

"We'll get in immediately because the entire diplomatic corps sit there, and I don't care. The gang is there, the entire dirty gang. We will get them out. What does it matter. We will apologize afterwards."

Air Force General Bodenschatz: "Most of them sit there and think they are safe."

Hewel: "We will find documents there."

Hitler: "There? Yes we will find documents and we'll trace some treason."

Badoglio Worst Enemy

Hitler characterized Italian Marshal Pietro Badoglio as "our worst enemy."

"We must make out a list right now," Hitler said.

"Ciano (Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano) must naturally be included, as well as Badoglio and many others, and, in the first place, the entire gang. Badoglio and many others, and, in the first place, the entire gang. Badoglio naturally—dead or alive."

At one point, the plotters picked up cues from one another as in a stage play.

Hitler: "I must get the crown prince first of all."

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel: "He is more important than the old man."

Bodenschatz: "That must be organized. They must be packed into a plane and flown away immediately."

"Away With Them"

Hitler: "Into the airplane. Away with them immediately."

Bodenschatz: "See that the bambino (crown prince) does not get lost at the airport."

Hitler said a promise by those who ousted Mussolini that Italy would continue to fight was nothing but treachery—and that he would "play the same game."

He would do this, he said by making believe he expected them to fight while meanwhile laying plans to capture them.

"If he cannot come, or if he doesn't and says he doesn't feel well, which would not be surprising with such a traitorous gang, well, then, I don't know," Hitler mused.

"So and so declared, however, the war will be continued but nothing will be changed. But that is treachery, we, on our part will continue to play the same game, but everything will be prepared so that in a flash-like action we can lay our hands on the entire gang."

"One thing is clear," Hitler, "this swine Badoglio has worked against us, in northern Africa, here, and everywhere.

29 of 33 Teachers Involved in Strike, Seen Ready To Quit

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 15—Twenty-nine of the 33 school teachers in the three strike-bound schools in North College Hill were reported today to be ready to submit their resignations to the community's board of education at its monthly meeting tonight.

Miss Amelia Di Philia, president of the teachers association said a "plan of action" had been determined but she either would confirm nor deny that the instructors would quit their jobs, effective at the end of the school term.

The word that the teachers to resign came from a usually reliable source. The 29 teachers favor retention of Dr. William A. Cook as school superintendent. It was in protest over the refusal of a majority of the board of education to renew Dr. Cook's contract, which expires July 31, that resulted in approximately 700 students leaving their classes in one elementary school and the junior and senior high schools nearly a month ago.

The information source also said that E. V. Thesken, principal at the senior high school, also might resign tonight, effective June 13, when the school term ends. He recently declared he was "fed up" with the school board fight.

WALLACE

at home with a series of speeches accusing the United States of embarking on a policy that would divide the world into two camps and which, if pursued, would "eventually lead to war."

There was no talk today of war, of international politics or of any other subject more controversial than friendly disputes over the best methods of fighting plant diseases.

After speeches in Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen Wallace will go to Paris for a final European public address before returning to the United States.

Wallace's vigorous speeches here continued to stir British reaction. In the house of commons, Conservative L. D. Gammans served notice that he would ask the government Thursday whether Wallace's Sunday night broadcast over the BBC network was made after consulting with the British government.

Gammans said he would ask:

"If the BBC broadcast on April 13 by Mr. Henry Wallace, in which the domestic and foreign policy of the U. S. government was attacked, was made with the knowledge of, or after consultation with His Majesty's government; if there are any previous instances of a foreign statesman being granted similar facilities by the BBC to criticize his own government, and if he (the postmaster general) will offer a similar opportunity to any U. S. statesman who supports the domestic and foreign policy of President Truman's administration?"

SENATE TURNS DOWN BARGAINING CURBS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15—The senate labor committee today rejected 7 to 6 proposals to write restrictions on industrywide bargaining into general labor legislation.

With this vote, Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the committee now has tentatively reached decisions on all individual sections of its bill.

Taft said the committee will meet again Thursday to review its decisions and vote on the bill as a whole.

The committee also voted 7 to 6 to lump all labor legislation in a single bill, as recommended by the general conference of Republican senators. The minority wanted to break up the omnibus bill into three separate measures.

Across the capitol, the house launched into debate on its separate bill with Republicans proclaiming and Democrats agreeing that it will pass overwhelmingly.

DANCER

Schmidt, known in Carribbean capitals as "Satira," a dancer, said she had lived aboard the yacht, the "Satira," since January. A month ago she picked up correspondence from which she learned that Mee was married. Miss Schmidt said:

"We were terribly in love. He had promised to marry me. I came to Havana to await his arrival."

Describing the fateful events of April 8, Miss Schmidt said:

"He became very angry and hit me on the face and body and ordered me off the boat. Then he ran out of the cabin. In a moment he came back and I thought he would kill me. I wanted to run from the cabin but he stood in the only entrance. I ran to the drawer and got the pistol and fired it blindly. He was coming toward me, and I saw him fall. I ran over to the door and called for help."

Charles Jackson, 27, of River Forest, Ill., war buddy and co-owner of the boat with Mee, was in a forward cabin. He is being held pending completion of the investigation.

Miss Schmidt said she tried to stop the flow of blood and put a pillow under Mee's head while Jackson went for a doctor.

Cuba has no death penalty and under the social defense code a slaying in defense of one's own life may be proved justifiable homicide.

PLANNED TO MARRY SLAIN MAN, OHIO FATHER SAYS

TOLEDO, O., April 15—John F. Schmidt, distraught father of dancer Patricia Schmidt, held in the slaying of a Chicago lawyer at Havana, yesterday went into seclusion after revealing that his daughter recently wrote of plans to marry John Lester Mee, the man she allegedly killed.

The last letter received from his daughter, Schmidt said, came Saturday and was postmarked Tuesday—the day of the fatal shooting. It told of a week-long cruise on the yacht.

"Apparently, Patricia didn't know Mee was married," Schmidt declared. "I doubt if she would have mentioned him in her letters if she had."

Schmidt, a pharmacist, said he would go to Cuba if his help is needed.

TRUMAN SEEKS ARMS EMBARGO

Wants Law Changed So Shipments to Potential Enemies Could Be Banned.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Truman today proposed sweeping changes in this country's neutrality law to permit the government to place embargoes on shipments of arms to unfriendly nations.

In a message to congress, the President said he must be free to act "in accordance with our position in the United Nations."

Under section 12 of the neutrality act, Mr. Truman pointed out, the requirement of impartiality forces the secretary of state to "treat aggressor and aggrieved, peacemaker and troublemaker equally by granting every application for the license for the exportation of any arms, ammunition or implements of war unless such action would be in violation of a treaty."

No Longer Consistent

"Such a provision of law is no longer consistent with this country's commitments and requirements," the President's message said.

"We have committed ourselves to international cooperation through the United Nations.

"If this participation is to be fully effective, this government must have control over traffic and weapons which will permit us to act in accordance with our position in the United Nations and will be adaptable to changes in the international situation."

Mr. Truman added that since weapons and implements of war "are material weights in the balances of peace or war," this country "should not be legally bound to be indiscriminate in how they are placed in the scales.

"If war should ever again become imminent, it would be intolerable to find ourselves in our present position of being bound by our own legislation to give aid and support to any power which might later attack us."

Along with his message, Mr. Truman submitted to congress proposed legislation to give the government discretion in the administration of controls over licenses, not only for arms but over other materials designed for military use.

He said the proposed legislation provides for export controls over (1) articles especially designed for or customarily used only in the manufacture of arms, ammunition and implements of war, and (2) articles exported for use, directly or indirectly, by foreign military establishment.

The bill would authorize supervision of the exportation of arms, ammunition, implements of war and related commodities, and the importation of these articles. It also would provide for registration of manufacturers, exporters, importers, and dealers in munitions of war and provide means for giving the government a more adequate check in the international traffic in arms.

PICKET LINE FORMED AT BUILDING SUPPLY YARD

Eight Employes On Strike at Millard Hunt Company.

The Millard Hunt Co. of 182 North Prospect street, coal and building supply dealers, was struck-bound today as eight truck drivers and yard men, members of the Truck Drivers Local 40, AFL, walked off their jobs and a picket line was formed around the company's office and coal yard.

J. L. Stover, president of Local 40, which has its headquarters in Mansfield, said the eight yard men and truckers, all members of the union, were asking for union recognition and pay increases. He said negotiations have been under way with company officials for the last six weeks. The union employes voted to strike at a meeting Sunday.

M. Paul Hunt, secretary-treasurer of the company, said the company had no statement to make "because no demands have been made to the company."

Besides union recognition, Mr. Stover said, the men are asking for the following wage adjustments: 90 cents an hour for yard men instead of 70 cents; 95 cents an hour for truck drivers instead of 70 cents and $1.10 an hour for transit mix drivers instead of 90 cents.

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, O., April 15—Sheriff George Bateman said he expected to take Jewell Peters, 25-year-old Ohio university student, to Columbus today to begin a one-to-20 year sentence for the death of his wife.

Peters was sentenced Saturday after pleading guilty to first degree manslaughter in the Dec. 2 death of his wife, Leah Mae, whom he married four years ago.

Prosecutor Gordon B. Gray reported Peters, described by university officials as an "A" student, confessed smothering his wife, formerly of Newark, O., with bedclothing during a quarrel in their trailer home.

Cincinnati Printer, Too Thin To Be Hired In 1882, Completes His 65th Year On Job

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 15—They told Charlie Kelly he was too ... work when he applied at the Cincinnati Times Star's composing room back in 1882, but he was insistent and the other day completed 65th year on the job.

"... I was thin," Charlie recalled today as he took his regular ... setting type. "I didn't ... pounds and I was tall. ... don't weigh much and ... feet one."

Kelly started out in typical newspaper fashion. He was a ... devil."

"I did all the jobs no one else would have." Charlie said. "I ... the floor, picked up type that had been dropped and took care of filling the oil lamps. That's all we had in those days. But for a 14-year-old kid it was heaven."

Charlie is just past 80 but he has no serious thought of retiring. "This is my life, here at the case," he said. "And I'd miss the boys too much if I left."

And "the boys" would miss Charlie, too. They joke with him about how young he looks.

"How do you do it?" one young printer asked. "You must've added some years to hit that 80-mark so soon."

And they want to know how much Charlie weighs. He keeps that to himself but will admit he has never gone over 165 pounds.

Charlie says there are just two things that will force his retirement.

"Sickness is one," he said. "And the other, well, if times get tough, if we have a business recession and some young fellow needs my job, I'll step aside."

Custer, sergeant at arms, and Robert Cocherl, member of the auditing committee for a three-year term.

Roger Campbell, an apprentice member, was given the obligation. Mr. Sorreles reported on the convention of the Ohio Typographical conference held Saturday and Sunday in Springfield. The union instructed the secretary to write to Representative Kenneth A. Robinson asking his support on house bills 113 and 114 which deal with the establishment and maintenance of five tuberculosis hospitals in Ohio.

ELKS BOWLERS HOME FROM MADISON, WIS.

Seven Marion Teams Turn in Good Scores.

A bit weary from their approximately 850 miles of traveling, but agreeing that they had a good time, the 40 local bowlers who traveled to Madison, Wis., for the Elks National bowling tournament arrived back in Marion at 4:30 a. m. today.

Seven teams represented Marion in the tournament. This was the largest delegation that has ever been entered in the national event from this city.

Harry Hammond who was in charge of arrangements for this city's entries in the tournament said that he did not have the record of the teams this morning but believes Marion bowlers rolled in the money in all events.

A couple of the local teams rolled scores over 2,600 and in the doubles and singles events scores of over 1,200 and over 600 were posted. He says that he hopes to have a complete report of results soon.

The bowlers went to Chicago in a special Erie coach but were unable to charter one for the trip from Chicago to Madison. Coming back their luck was better as they had a private car all the way.

Junior High Pupils In Music Program

The annual Junior High school instrumental music festival will be held tonight in the Central Junior High school auditorium. The program is scheduled for 7:30 and Homer Huffman, instructor of instrumental music in the city schools, will be in charge. The bands and orchestras from the three junior high schools will participate in the program.

PLANNING REPORTS GIVEN AT P.-T.A. MEETING

Symposium Features Session of School Group Council.

"What Our City Has Done and Will Do Toward Betterment" was the topic for a symposium held at a meeting of the Marion City Council of Parents and Teachers Thursday night at Harding High school. Ben Peterson, president of the Marion Civic Planning Association, presided.

Those taking part were Mrs. Roy Newell who gave a report on the progress of the Marion airport, prepared by Chauncey Lake, Riley Hall, who presented a report on the new sewer project, William Ogan who reported on the school levy funds and how they are being distributed, concluding with report by Ben T. Wiant on the new school buildings and the necessary repairs to be done on a few of the present buildings.

The East Side Mothersingers, directed by Mrs Warren Wise, sang a group of songs including "Bells of Youth," "Remember Now Thy Creator" and "A Lullaby."

Mrs. F. W. Kuhnel, health chairman of the council, announced the Spring Round-up to start May 12. This is a P.-T. A. project which gives all pre-school children in Marion an opportunity for a physical examination free of charge before entering school in the fall. Mrs. Arthur Noble, president-elect of the city council, will be the delegate to the conference to be held April 23 in Delaware.

Breach of Discipline Brings Car Recovery

CLEVELAND, April 15—The 15 members of the police platoon were marching in perfect cadence to their downtown posts.

Suddenly, Patrolman Robert Miller, an ex-army drill sergeant, committed a flagrant breach of discipline and let his eyes wander to one side.

"Hey," he shouted, "there goes a car that's wanted in some robberies."

The surprised platoon broke formation and Sgt. George Snyder, who had been calling cadence, commandeered a passing automobile.

The story's ending: two men were arrested, the platoon did not resume formation and Patrolman Miller received no reprimand for not looking straight ahead while marching.

BOWLING RESULTS

L. Myers burned up Palace alleys with a 265 single Friday night in the Commercial league. His other scores were 178 and 147 for a 590 total. Oberlander and W. Maag both cracked 600. Oberlander posted 255, 154 and 237 for a 646 and W. Maag rolled 223, 232 and 166 for 621.

An amendment was added, however, providing for use of the park for the Little World Series softball tournament after the end of the professional hardball season.

The following improvements petitions were handled:

Storm water and sanitary sewer on Frederick street, referred to the sanitary and sewer committee;

Storm water and sanitary sewer on Marshall street, referred to committee;

TOP CROWD EXPECTED TO WITNESS BASEBALL OPENER

246,010 Record Set in 1931 Believed Certain To Tumble

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 15—The largest number of fans ever to witness the opening of a major league baseball season was expected today when the National and American leagues inaugurate their 1947 campaign.

An estimated 281,400 fans will jam their way to the four opening games in each circuit and thus shatter the previous high of 246,010 established in 1931.

In addition, the opening day attendance records of the National and American leagues and five clubs probably will be broken. An estimated 129,000 fans will be on hand for the National's openers and 152,400 for the American's lid lifters, turnouts which will smash the former marks of 114,304 and 149,068 established in 1926 and 1946 by the National and American leagues respectively.

New club records are expected to be set in the American league by Cleveland and Boston and in the National by Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

Feller Draws Top

The biggest gathering is slated for Cleveland's municipal stadium where 80,000 are expected to watch Bobby Feller and the Indians clash with the Chicago White Sox.

Feller, who will be hurling his fifth inaugural game, is one of the six pitchers nominated to pitch today who hurled in openers last year. Feller has won three of his opening day starts, including a no-hitter and two three-hitters.

The other five moundsmen who toiled in their club's 1946 initial games and will work today are Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees, Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers, Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox, Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants and Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves. All came through with victories in the 1946 openers.

Despite the decreed absence of Lippy Leo Durocher, the 1947 major league campaign is expected to produce the greatest baseball fireworks in many years.

23 Rookies in Action

When Jackie Robinson trots out to his first base position for the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field he will be the first Negro to play in the major leagues since the turn of the century. Twenty-two other promising rookies also start their big league careers today.

Stunned by the banishment of Durocher by Commissioner A. B. Chandler last Wednesday, President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers hasn't found a replacement yet. He confirmed yesterday a report that he had tried without success to obtain Joe McCarthy, former New York Yankee skipper. Clyde Sukeforth, manager pro tem in the last three exhibition games, was slated to direct the team today.

Bucky Harris leads the Yankees against the Philadelphia Athletics at the Yankee stadium. Herold (Muddy) Ruel, who gave up a job as assistant to Chandler, will start a rebuilding program at St. Louis with the Browns. Billy Herman will attempt to combine playing and managing at Pittsburgh, and Johnny Neun will get a real chance at Cincinnati.

The New York Yankees will be handicapped without Joe DiMaggio, their number one hitter, who is recovering from an operation.

The New York Giants suffered a serious blow to their hopes of a first division finish when Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, highly promising rookie centerfielder broke a leg in an exhibition.

The Detroit Tigers were slated to start without Dick Wakefield, the power hitter, who pulled a muscle and will miss several games.

Elbie Fletcher's injury caused Herman to change his winter plans which had Hank Greenberg, his big home run hitter, in left field. The former Tiger slugger must return to his former position at first base until Fletcher is ready to take over. The Cleveland Indians, minus their star centerfielder, Hank Edwards, who dislocated a shoulder several weeks ago, will start with a rookie, Dale Mitchell.

Rain Wins Opener

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 15—A steady rain at game time forced postponement of yesterday's baseball season opener between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators.

President Truman had arrived at Griffith stadium, but did not go to his seat. Some 27,000 other fans, including cabinet members and other notables, also were in the park when the contest was called off officially at 3:02 p. m.

Feller On Hill For Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 15—No one really expected lightning to strike twice in the same place, but baseball's biggest opening day crowd was due to cram Cleveland's lakefront stadium today to witness blazing Bob Feller's bid to duplicate his 1940 no-hit no-run inaugural conquest of the Chicago White Sox.

Attendance estimates ranged all the way from 60,000 to 85,000, with Business Manager Rudy Shaffer of the Tribe tossing in the latter figure as his guess should the weatherman's "fair and cool" prediction hold up.

Brief and Sedate

Bill Veeck, the new Cleveland prexy said the open day ceremonies would be brief and sedate, with no fireworks, clowns or dancing girls.

An attendance of 80,000 would break by about 6,000 the New York's Yankees' record for an opening contest.

Feller will be up against one of Cleveland's jinx hurlers in his attempt to start the American league season with a bang, the White Sox having nominated Ed Lopat to face the fireballer. Lopat, in the last three seasons, has faced the Tribe 10 times, winning nine in a row before dropping one last year.

The White Sox finished fifth, and the Tribe sixth, last season, but both are looking forward to better things this year.

The Indians will present a few new faces, including Hal Peck in right field and Joe (Flash) Gordon as the second base cog in the double play combination with Manager-Shortstop Lou Boudreau who is starting his sixth year at the Tribe helm.

Experienced Veterans

Eddie Robinson at first base, and Dale Mitchell in center field, played a few games with the Indians on the tag-end of last campaign, but the rest of the Tribe starters are experienced veterans.

Compared with Lopat's 13-13 record of last year, Feller won 26 and lost 15, beat the Yankees 1-0 with a no-hitter, fanned 348 for an all-time record, appeared in the most games, 48; pitched the most complete games, 36; pitched the most innings, 371; allowed the most hits, 277, and gave the most bases on balls, 153.

The lineups:

Philley cf	Boudreau ss
Kennedy rf	Robinson 1b
Hodgin lf	Gordon 2b
Killoway 1b	Seerey lf

Harding Diamond Crew Takes Pleasant Nine 12-6

WILL THEY REPEAT?

AL BATTING CHAMP — PITCHING LEADER — HOME RUN KING

These three players topped their respective departments in major league play last season and upon their ability to repeat their championship performances rest the hopes of their teams. Mickey Vernon, left, of Washington, hit over .300 for the first time in his career when he led American league hitters with a .353 mark. Dave (Boo) Ferriss, center, of the Boston Red Sox, completed his second major league season with a 25-6 record, for an .806 percentage, best in the majors. Hank Greenberg, now with the Pirates, stroked 44 circuit clouts last season to top the majors.

Chicago Sends New Player To Localites

The Chicago Cubs have sent another player to the local training camp.

He is Melvin Nelson of Toledo. A candidate for all positions except pitcher, he has been working out with Davenport, Ia. this spring. He is about six feet one inch tall and weighs around 175 pounds. He only recently received his discharge from the service.

Developing a coordinated swing was emphasized in yesterday's practice session. After Sunday's intra-squad contest, Burbrink decided that the team was less advanced in hitting than any other phase of the game.

Most of the squad members had about three turns at the bat and although it's take time to determine whether the team has many potent stick wielders, Burbrink reports that most of them are getting better timing into their cuts at the ball.

Dick Pace, Tom Johnson, Gerald Peters and Paul Strohl pitched the batting praceice.

Besides the accent on developing punch at the plate the infielders and outfielders were again run through fielding and throwing drills.

Another intra-squad game was slated for today.

A change has been made in the time that the Cubs work out during the day. Practices now start at 1:30 in the afternoon and continue to around 4:30 or 5. Previously they started at 11 a. m. continuing through to about 1:30 or 1:45 p. m. Under the new setup the squad benefits by the usually warmer afternoon weather.

MEET THE CUBS

Ball Player Or Sports Writer Is Adams' Ambition

Bruce Adams, 18, of Kanakee, Ill., a candidate for a catching job with the Cubs, would like to be a sport writer. But his first love is baseball.

Bruce explains should he not make the grade as a ball player —and he's young enough now that a couple of failures won't mean that he's out—he would like to stay in contact with the game by writing about it.

A sport writer, he believes, has one of the best jobs that can be had. They've got to figure out an angle, and if it catches on they're set, he says.

Besides being a baseball player he played basketball in high school and last winter with a semi-pro cage outfit in Kanakee, Ill.

He did not start in professional ball as a catcher. While at Statesville last year, he played in the infield part of the season. Then the regular catcher suffered an injury and Bruce was called upon to work behind the plate.

As a catcher he has suffered broken finger bones and been cleated when stopping plays at home. Despite this catching is the job he likes best in baseball.

"You're always in the game as a catcher," he says, "and that's where I want to be."

He stands 5-10½ and weighs 165 pounds.

Spring Lures Kenton Youths Into Trouble

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., April 15—Two 14-year-old Kenton youths succumbed to the lure of spring early Sunday morning and borrowed the auto of one of the youth's mother.

Police received a call that the two had run over a hedge and into a small tree, extricated the car and hit a fence a block further down the street, run into a ditch and out again before coming to a halt with two smashed fenders in a pile of brush. The two took off on foot when a police cruiser approached but were soon located at home.

While no charges were filed, a parental chastisement was administered.

CINCY OPENS HARD WAY--WITH CHAMPS

Reds To Draw 32,000 at Game with Cards.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 15—Cincinnati's young Reds open the National league season the hard way today, meeting the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

A crowd of nearly 32,000 was expected to jam Crosley field. The weatherman promised clear skies and near-70 degree temperature by game time.

The program called for Ohio Governor Thomas J. Herbert to toss out the traditional season-opening first ball.

Johnny Neun, new manager of the Reds, nominated Ewell Blackwell, elongated righthander, as his starting pitcher. Blackwell, the most effective Redleg moundman in Florida this spring, won nine and dropped 12 in 1946.

Operating on the mound for the Cardinals will be one of two righthanders. George Munger (2-2) or Little Murry Dickson (15-6).

The Reds' probable starting lineup included three rookies—Frankie Baumholtz and Clyde Vollmer in the outfield and Charlie Kress at first base.

For the Cardinals, it will be the same gang of hard-hitting players who edged Brooklyn in a playoff for the National league flag last year and then whipped the Boston Red Sox in the World Series.

Probable starting lineups:

St. Louis	Cincinnati
Schoendienst 2b	Baumholtz rf

Musial 1b	Hatton 3b
Slaughter rf	Galan lf
Kurowski 3b	Lamanno c

Prexies Come Through As 150 Witness First Baseball Game

By GEORGE ROEST

Harding baseball squad handed Pleasant a 12 to 6 defeat at Harding field yesterday afternoon. It was the first start of the season for both nines.

Although there were no stands to seat them, approximately 150 persons lined the first and third baselines to witness the game.

Coach Wiley used four twirlers whose combined efforts held Pleasant to only three hits. Fifteen strikeouts were recorded for the local nine.

Ailey fanned four batters, Roseberry fanned three, and Smeltzer and Owens each whiffed four. Owens, who pitched the last two innings, was the only pitcher allowing no hits.

The visitors were the first to break into the scoring column as they ran up five runs in their half of the second inning.

The Prexies staged a rally of their own and tied things up going into the third.

In the top half of the third, Merchant struck out and Vance went to first on shortstop Riley's error. He advanced to second on a passed ball and took third on a fielder's choice. Riley again fumbled the ball and Merchant went home to give the Townshippers their last score.

Riley grounded out to open Harding's half of the third and Mathias drew a walk, going to second on a balk and third on a passed ball.

Hill drew a walk and Mathias went home on an infield out, Hill advancing to third. One of Gorby's offerings to Ed Roseberry was wild and Hill crossed the plate to send Harding into a permanent lead.

The Presidents picked up one more run in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

MARKET CONTINUES TO SEEK NEW LOWS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 15—Selected stocks leaned toward recovery in today's market although buying power was relatively light and many leaders continued to falter at new lows for the year.

Further short covering and timid buying were credited to the idea the list may have been oversold and was entitled to a technical comeback.

Attracting support were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Goodrich, International Harvester, Westinghouse, DuPont, Union Carbide, Schenley, Standard Oil (NJ), American Woolen, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Intermittent laggards included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Baltimore and Ohio, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Anaconda, U. S. Gypsum, American Smelting, Consolidated Edison and American Can.

Suspended Sentence To Workhouse Given Man

James Hurley, 40, of 1007 Bennett street was given a suspended sentence of 60 days in the Columbus workhouse today when he pleaded guilty before Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast to charges of contributing to the abuse of his 15-year-old son.

Judge Gast suspended the sentence after Hurley agreed to take the youth, together with two other children, a girl, 12, and a boy, 10, back to their mother in West Virginia, juvenile court officials said.

He was arrested by city police last Saturday night after his son told police his father kicked and beat him.

I ASSUMED THAT GAYLORD HAD PAID MORAY BY CHECK... AND THAT MORAY WAS TOO SMART TO LET GAYLORD STOP PAYMENT ON IT, KNOWING THAT MORAY WOULD HAVE TO ACT BEFORE THE BANK OPENED AT NINE. I WAITED IN A CAB OUTSIDE HIS HOTE...

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"IMMEDIATELY" means just that when Philip Veritzen gives an order, and I was not surprised to hear the owner of the Lansfield greet the manager whom he had summoned to the telephone in no more than a few seconds after he had asked for him.

"Olsen? Good! I want bars put on every window of the rooms now occupied by Mr. and Mrs Graham. What's that? Yes, I want them on the penthouse studio of Mr. Graham, and the study of Mrs. Graham on this floor."

Madge Surprised

I caught my breath in surprise at those added directions, realized a second later why he had given them.

"It's the old stuff, Olsen," Philip Veritzen said. "The Grahams are helping in an investigation—you know the set-up—and there will be danger for them till the thing is washed up. But keep your lips closed and your eyes open.

"Now I want that work done immediately. You see my daughter-in-law is asleep in one of the bedrooms of this suite. She arrived from the hospital terribly fatigued, and the physician has given her a sedative so she will not rouse at the noise.

"If it were possible to postpone the work until morning, I would do it, of course But it isn't, Mr. Graham advises me. The need for the protection is urgent. You can get on with it? What's that? In less than an hour? Make it less than a half hour. Good-bye."

He turned to us.

No Chance to Protest

"You can look for the workmen in less than a half hour," he said, and I reflected that though he had given Olsen no chance to protest at his change in time, he was as sure that his orders would be obeyed as old Queen Victoria was sure that a chair always would be in readiness for her. She never looked behind her to see that the chair was there, and Philip Veritzen always took it equally for granted that his orders would be obeyed.

"That will be wonderful," Dr Twitchell said, and my father put out his hand and grazed that of Mary's father-in-law as he came back to his chair

"Thank you, Phil," he said, and the Lansfield's owner sighed as he sat down again in his chair

"For what, Charles?" he asked "Being decent? But, tell me, is there time for me to hear just what has happened to Mary? The sanitarium authorities have me completely at sea, and Noel is qualifying for a padded cell, or was when I last saw him I'd like to get a line on the truth."

My father looked at his wrist watch.

"I'll stretch the time," he said "I'll give you ten minutes"

Mary's father-in-law turned to Dr. Twitchell

"You have been most clear," he said "But I only know what happened just before you put Mary to sleep Can you—"

The old physician shook his head

"I can tell you nothing more than I already have," he told Philip "Mrs Graham, I think, is the only one who can enlighten you fully"

"She has been with Mary every minute since she came back until now," Dicky said. "She's your one best bet."

Answered Own Question

"Who is with Mary now?" he asked quickly, then answered his own question.

"Katharine, of course," he said, then he turned to me.

"Will you tell me what all this means?" he asked, and there was no hint of arrogance or displeasure in his voice But there was no particular sympathy, either.

He wanted information, and I determined to give him the whole truth. He was her husband's father, he was the producer of her play, he had lavished every possible care and attention upon her since she had been taken ill. He was entitled to know every detail of what had happened.

I rose, went to my desk, and with Dicky's horrified eyes protesting silently, I drew out the telegram Mary had sent to me and handed it to her father-in-law

"This is the first intimation we had that Mary was coming home," I said.
